

Saturn Hurls Apollo Aloft

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A Saturn I, described here as the world's mightiest space rocket, scored its seventh straight test-flight success today, hurling into orbit an unmanned model of the project Apollo moonship.

The flight was the second in a long series of unmanned Apollo flights leading to three-man earth orbital missions and eventually a lunar landing. The rocket and spacecraft are early versions of those being developed for the moon journey.

The launching was observed today by some of the U.S. astronauts, some of whom may be crew members on moon flights late in the decade.

The mammoth Saturn I, weighing 570 tons, blasted upward at 12:23 p.m. EDT under the tremendous force of 1,500,000 pounds of thrust generated by its power plant.

GOES INTO ORBIT
The rocket's cluster of eight first-stage engines trailed a plume of flame as it burned for 147 seconds to shove the payload through the dense lower atmosphere. The second stage fired with a 90,000-pound burst of thrust to push the satellite into orbit.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced 11 minutes after launching that the rocket had performed flawlessly and sent the Apollo craft, called a "booster plate" because it is a weighted metal shell, had settled into an orbit ranging from about 115 to 135 miles high.

Kelowna RCMP Seek Kidnapper

A practical nurse coming off duty at the Kelowna General Hospital Tuesday at 11 p.m. was forced to take a terrifying ride by a masked "kidnapper," RCMP said today.

Police and a tracking dog spent the past two days searching for the man. They have not been able to locate him. News of the incident was withheld until today in the hope of arresting the abductor.

Mrs. Timothy Lemky, 25, of June Springs Road, found a masked man in her car as she was driving home from work. He forced her to drive through streets in the south end of the city and out the KLO road to Swampy Road.

Seeing a car following her on Swampy Road, she brought her car to a stop and screamed for help. The man jumped out of the car and made off in the woods.

SCREAM FOR HELP
Occupants of the car behind Mrs. Lemky were Mrs. Thomas Hughes and Mrs. Daniel Dulak. They told police they heard a woman scream for help and saw a man running past their car.

Mrs. Lemky drove off as soon as the man left. Police received a report of Staff Sgt. T. J. Kelly said, the incident at 11:30 p.m. from Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Dulak.

She told police she left the hospital with a fellow nurse, Miss Roseanne Leewen, and drove her friend home to Francis Ave.

On her way to her own home on June Springs road she became aware someone was in the back seat, wearing a mask that covered the whole face and had a knife.

HAD KNIFE
She said the man told her he had a knife and kept prodding her with something as he drove. She was where to drive. They went up and down streets from Richter to Abbott St. in the south end to the KLO road.

At Casorso road she was told to "turn right" and at Swampy Road and Casorso road to turn "left." She was directed to go up the hill and turn around.

It was at this point she saw a car coming from behind and screamed for help.

Police began a search of the area at once. Wednesday they brought a tracking dog from Kamloops but could find no trace of the man.

"We had hoped to find the mask at least, or the knife, but we didn't find anything as yet," Police said.

They are continuing to investigate the incident.

West Kootenay In Stand On Its Record Before PUC

PENTICTON (CP)—Officials of the province's largest single private enterprise utility, the West Kootenay Power and Light Company, are assembled here to defend before the Public Utilities Commission today its record of service to about 150,000 residents of southeastern B.C.

"We are going to keep the flag flying," declared the company's general manager, W. K. Gwyer of Trail.

West Kootenay serves every municipality and unincorporated territory between Kitchener and Cranbrook and Princeton, including the Okanagan cities of Penticton and Kelowna. It has been called before the PUC in connection with about 20 applications for extensions into rural areas, specific rate reductions proposed by four West Kootenay villages, and consideration by the PUC "whether there is a case for a reduction in electric rates" throughout the entire system.

The company has already said it considers the proposed extensions in the Similkameen, central Okanagan, Boundary and West Kootenay areas, to be uneconomic.

West Kootenay is the direct utility for Trail, Rossland and the villages of Warfield, Castlegar, Fruitville, Montrose, Salmon, Creston, and dozens of smaller communities. It sells smaller wholesale to Grand Forks, Penticton, Kelowna, Princeton, and to improvement districts.

The company is a subsidiary of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, has one hydro plant of its own on the Kootenay River and buys additional low-cost energy from Cominco's own hydro system.

West Kootenay has brought a consultant from New York and a rates expert from the Ebasco organization, senior officials and a team of engineers who are specialists in utility management.

Police In Quebec Breathe Easier

MONTREAL (CP)—The recovery of weapons stolen from Fusiliers Mont-Royal, a Montreal armory is causing provincial police to breathe "a sigh of relief as far as the Queen's visit to Quebec City is concerned."

The expression of relief came Thursday night from Inspector J. L. Melanson as police took stock of the recovered weapons, stolen last January from the

"We have every reason to believe that we now have recovered all of the arms," Insp. Melanson said.

Separatist literature also was found by the raiders who came up with the weapons Thursday.

The Queen and Prince Philip are to visit Quebec City Oct. 10-11. The trip will help commemorate the 100th anniversary of the original meetings of the fathers of Confederation. Charlottetown and Ottawa also are included in the itinerary.

The Thursday raid took place at a downtown tourist home where officers found a cache of weapons that included 15 machine guns as well as revolvers, detonator caps and sawed-off shotguns.

Also found in a vacant apartment at the two-story home were six briefcases, and these contained the separatist literature.

Most of the arsenal was found in two steamer trunks wedged behind a bed.

Three months ago, police recovered another large cache of stolen arms in a raid on an east-end garage.

Mailed Fist Of Defence Reaches Out Into Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Secretary Robert McNamara said today that two U.S. anti-satellite systems have scored several successful intercepts of U.S. satellites up to "hundreds of miles" above earth.

McNamara appeared at a press conference to give some additional details on the anti-satellite systems which President Johnson announced in a speech Thursday at Sacramento, Calif.

The defence secretary said

"I'm under serious restriction" as to what details he could give either about the two anti-satellite systems or about a new over-the-horizon radar system which Johnson also announced.

Both, he said, are "very highly classified."

He did disclose that the anti-satellite systems employ the force of the Nike-Zeus anti-missile device.

McNamara said the army successfully intercepted its first anti-satellite Aug. 1, 1963, and the air force May 29, 1964—in each case a year after they were ordered to start work on the anti-satellite systems.

The two systems have been effectively tested and have intercepted satellites in space.

McNamara said the anti-satellite systems are derivatives of missile and anti-missile projects which have been under way for years.

The Thor was the first U.S. 1,500-mile range missile but no longer is used as a military weapon. The Nike-Zeus has been under development as a missile since about 1957, with an outlay so far approaching $2,000,000,000.

McNamara also conceded that the over-the-horizon radar has "its roots in the past."

He said the principle involves bouncing signals off the ionosphere far beyond the horizon. He said this kind of radar is different from the currently used variety which is effective by line of sight only.

He declined to discuss whether the warheads are nuclear or conventional but indicated there was no actual physical intercept—that the satellite-killing warhead was measured as coming within lethal range of the satellite target.

The defence secretary refused also to say anything about bases at which the anti-satellite systems are deployed.

Mr. K. Denies He Claimed Russians Had New Weapon

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev denied Thursday night that he said Russia has a new weapon that can destroy mankind.

Khrushchev said scientists had shown him a "terrible weapon which shows what mankind can do." He said it was not a nuclear bomb but gave no indication what the weapon was.

Members of a Japanese parliamentary delegation that met with Khrushchev Tuesday had reported he told them Soviet scientists had showed him a new, secret weapon that could destroy all life on earth.

The Soviet leader said his original remarks were misinterpreted in translation from Russian to Japanese and then to other languages.

Mr. Pearson said today the United States has made "no approaches of any kind" to persuade Canada to join the proposed multilateral nuclear force.

He added that Canadian policy on this matter hasn't changed since he told the Commons on June 7, 1963.

"I do not think it will be likely that we would wish to add to our existing responsibilities and commitments by participating in this kind of multilateral nuclear force."

The issue arose in the Commons today when Andrew "The Nipper" (Tony Greenwood) noted that Livingston T. Merchant, former U.S. ambassador to Canada, criticized Canada's stand in a speech here Thursday to the Atlantic Treaty Association.

Mr. Merchant also noted that Mr. Pearson is not an official of the U.S. government and was speaking to a non-official organization in his capacity as a private citizen.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, referring to Mr. Merchant's "gratuitous advice," asked whether the U.S. administration had "pressed on Canada" participation in the force.

"There has been no approach of any kind on this matter by the United States government," Mr. Pearson replied.

Dief Cheered On Birthday

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker was treated to a round of good wishes in the Commons today as party leaders greeted him on his 69th birthday.

Prime Minister Pearson wished him "the very best in the days, weeks and months ahead."

"I can think of only one thing that would make him happier and it's a continuous source of regret to me that I am not able to cooperate," he said.

He said there was no doubt about the excellence of Mr. Diefenbaker's health and he wished him many happy returns with continued health and happiness.

Ford Agrees On Contract

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Company and the United Auto Workers union agreed today on a new contract similar to that at Chrysler Corporation except for the addition of a Christmas bonus which UAW President Walter P. Reuther called "frothing on the cake."

The Christmas bonus will come from the supplemental unemployment benefit fund after the fund is fully paid up. Reuther said employees could get $25 to $100 each.

The UAW chief said the first bonus may be paid in 1965 and Malcolm Denise, Ford vice-president and labor relations chief, said this was "mathematically possible."

With Ceremonies At An End Sleeves Roll Up On Columbia

KASLO (CP)—With the historic ceremonies barely ended, sleeves have been rolled up here Sept. 29.

Initial work also is under way at the Arrow Lake end of the hydroelectric project.

As Prime Minister Pearson and President Johnson spoke at the ready a year after Duncan Peace Arch border park south of Vancouver, work already was progressing near here.

Major work now is concentrated on the site of the Duncan Lake dam, the first and smallest of three Canadian storage dams that will even out the flow of the charming river, producing an additional 2,800,000 kilowatts.

Crews have begun clearing a site for the $25,000,000 dam, which must be ready in four years. A road is being punched through and a new school, to replace one that must be torn down to make way for crews working on the dam, now is being built.

Awarding of a contract to build the dam is expected after Sept. 29.

GREAT GATHERING OF ROYALTY IN ATHENS

Youngest King Takes A Wife

ATHENS (AP)—King Constantine of the Hellenes wed Demark's beautiful Princess Anne-Marie today amid the Byzantine magnificence of Athens' Greek Orthodox Cathedral.

Anne-Marie, 18, became the queen of Greece and the world's youngest queen. At 24 her husband is the world's youngest monarch.

It was a spectacularly colorful ceremony, but it had its human moments — when Anne-Marie giggled, and when Queen Mother Frederika came close to hitting Britain's Prince Charles with one of the two crowns used in Greek Orthodox weddings.

Charles did not duck, but he eyed the heavy crowns with concern.

The wedding brought together the greatest gathering of royalty in years — seven kings, six queens, two former rulers, 48 princesses and 50 princes.

The handsome monarch and his bride took their vows in Athens' Greek Orthodox cathedral. Archbishop Chrysostomos, 85, primate of Greece, officiated at the Byzantine Orthodox rite.

Only the 1,600 invited guests were admitted to the cathedral. For the thousands of Greek villagers and others who flocked to Athens, the ceremony was broadcast to television sets at various centres around the capital by the Italian State Television Service. Athens has no television station.

An estimated crowd of 1,000,000 turned out to see Constantine and his queen, in a gilded, horse-drawn coach, lead the long procession of crowned heads and dignitaries back to the royal palace.

On hand for the occasion were all of Europe's reigning monarchs except Queen Elizabeth of Britain, who is preparing for a visit to Canada. She was represented by her husband, Prince Philip.

SADDENED BY DEATH
The wedding climaxed a three-year romance saddened by the death last June of Constantine's father, King Paul, and shadowed for the last eight months by recurring threats of war over Cyprus.

The couple, engaged since January, 1963, had planned to marry next January. But with the trying job of kingship upon him, Constantine wanted Anne-Marie beside him.

YOUNG COUPLE SMILES AT CROWDS

Johnson Again Illustrates Advantage Over Barry

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, back from his first tour of the U.S. general election campaign, has demonstrated today that the man in office really has a built-in advantage over the man who wants his job.

Twice in two days, Johnson dipped into the Pentagon's trove of military secrets for revelations which got wide public attention.

Although Johnson, the Democratic party presidential nominee, at no point directly took his disclosures to his campaign against Republican rival Sen. Barry Goldwater, many seemed to see Goldwater as the target.

In Sacramento, Calif., Thursday, Johnson made two major military disclosures: both involving the development of new defense systems which military experts said could properly be

U.K. Tory Leaders Disdain Challenge For Debate On TV

LONDON (CP) — Harold Wilson's tactics were used by R. H. S. Labor party leader, who challenged Conservative Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home to a television debate.

The challenge was Wilson's adaptation of the title of his main reply Thursday night to the Conservative general election campaign, "The Choice."

Tory officials were treating the proposal with disdain, saying it was a "hoax" and that they would not take part in it.

Wilson's computer-like mind makes him a formidable debater. Trade minister in the last Labor government before 1951, from Mr. Wilson's point of view, it has maintained an impressive grasp of domestic as well as foreign affairs.

Sir Alec, foreign affairs minister before becoming premier last October, is generally regarded as his best external and defense spokesman. His greatest successes, such as his role in the East-West nuclear test-ban treaty, came in the last few years.

Wilson's challenge to Douglas-Home is a direct challenge to his leadership. The election is Oct. 15.

More Clashes For Red Youth

MOSCOW (Reuters) — More clashes over procedure disrupted the Moscow world youth forum today, with pro-Chinese delegates demanding more time for their speeches.

A spokesman for North Vietnam took the rostrum to say that the chaotic conditions were being created by the pro-Soviet leadership in which delegates also clashed with the leadership over procedure.

The 100-nation forum, called to discuss imperialism and colonialism, drifted into near-panic when it began its working sessions Thursday. The Chinese protested they were unfairly attacked by the pro-Soviet organizers.

The same theme was taken today by an unidentified North Korean who said the Japanese chairman's appeal for shorter speeches was "of secondary importance."

The leadership "should take other opinions into account," he added.

When the chairman called on the South Viet Nam delegation to speak, a North Korean mounted the rostrum instead and demanded to speak on a point of order. When he stepped down, a North Vietnamese took over.

"Fragmented" Adult Education Said Developed In Canada

WINNIPEG (CP) — Delegates to the Canadian Education Association convention were told today a "fragmented" adult education service has been developed in Canada.

B. E. Wales, adult education director for the Vancouver School Board, said the federal citizenship branch provides support for teaching English and citizenship to new Canadians.

"But this support cannot be used to help educational programs for Indians who have left the reservation and come to the cities, nor can it help the education of an adult who is illiterate or has not completed grade school and who wishes to learn to read and write."

He said he was not critical of efforts of the citizenship branch, but deplored "the strings attached to the national interest because of the narrowness of the programs for which support is available."

He said Canada needs an

ATTENTION SHIFTS

He said that until recently provincial governments have given "only casual attention" to adult education within their education departments.

Mr. Wales said that among other things, adult high schools are needed. For most adults, young ones in particular, completion of high school standing is rapidly becoming a vocational requirement.

World Knows We're Right Says Rahman On Soviet Veto

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters) — Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia said today the whole world knows now that we are in the right, and that our case against Indonesia with aggression has been proved.

The prime minister was commenting on Russia's veto of Malaysia's move against Indonesia in the UN Security Council Thursday.

Malaysia has gone to the council pleading for action against Indonesia which it charged as being an aggressor. The federation links Singapore, Malaya, Sarawak and Sabah (North Borneo).

After a lengthy debate, Russia vetoed a Norwegian draft resolution demanding the landing of Indonesian paratroopers in Malaya.

TUNKU RAHMAN
... "We're right"

Indonesian President Sukarno has vowed to "crush" the federation because he sees it as a neo-colonialist plot.

Rahman said: "When the final vote came we had the support of nine of 11 members."

"DISREGARD CHARTER"

The two votes against came from the Communists, Russia and Czechoslovakia, who have repeatedly shown disregard for the charter when one of their members of state is involved in violation of it.

"Personally, I feel very pleased with the results and the manner in which our representatives prevailed our case, and I have cabinet my congratulations today."

Prior to going before the Security Council, Malaysia said it felt free to take any action it felt necessary to defend itself against further Indonesian incursions.

Meanwhile it was reported that most of the Indonesian paratroopers, dropped around 100 miles in south Malaya, have been rounded up by Malaysian troops. Deputy Premier Tan Abdul Razak said the situation was "very much improved."

About 50 paratroopers were believed to have been dropped in the night of Sept. 2 near Lathu, on the main road and rail line between Singapore and Kuala Lumpur.

Second Man Sent For Trial At Hearing On Gunshop Raid

MONTREAL (CP) — A second man was sent to trial Thursday on charges of capital murder and three others were committed to trial on reduced charges of non-capital murder in an Aug. 29 gunshop killing during an abortive arms raid.

Francois Schirrm, 32, self-styled former French army paratrooper, was sent to trial on a capital murder charge today by Sessions Judge Emile Trotter following lengthy legal arguments. Edmond Guenette, 29, was committed Wednesday to trial on a capital murder charge.

Crown Prosecutor Jacques Durois said the prosecution agreed to reduce capital murder charges against Gilles Brunet, 28, Cyrille Delisle, 26, and Marcel Tardif, 22, to non-capital murder. Judge Trotter sent them to trial on the reduced charge.

The five face trial in the killing of Leslie MacWilliams, 56, during an attempted holdup of the International Freighters Company on Beury Street in downtown Montreal. Alfred Pinch, 37, another store employee was also killed in the holdup. Police said the raid was carried out by persons with "revolutionary tendencies."

The preliminary hearings of seven other persons charged with conspiracy in the killing is scheduled to start Friday. Preliminary hearing of another person on a charge of being an accessory after the fact is scheduled to start Tuesday.

Automation Age Under Discussion

WINNIPEG (CP) — What changes will automation bring to the citizens of the future? The question is being discussed by the Canadian Education Association at its annual convention here.

Talks so far in the three-day convention which ends today have dealt with how to shape educational programs to best equip the young.

Dr. H. T. Courts, dean of education at the University of Alberta, said Thursday production, distribution and to a lesser extent supporting services are being affected by the application of technology and automation.

If... the citizens of the future will have more leisure, what provision should the secondary school be making to help prepare him to use it in a creative, wholesome and satisfying manner?

Certainly general education broadly conceived has a central place in the program of every student... surely there is a place for the pupil to develop his individuality and to become self-directing.

Dr. Courts said the nature of employment practices is changing with a decreased demand for unskilled and semi-skilled labor and a growing suspicion that many programs designed to prepare skilled tradesmen are exercises in obsolescence.

Earlier Thursday, Dr. J. R.

"Mysore" Food Project Begins in Kelowna Today

Canada's freedom from hunger campaign, an across Canada, national effort, is scheduled to start Sept. 18. The project is under direction of the United Nations and is assisted by the Voice of Women. "Big Government" Rapped By Assistant To Pearson

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jack Davis, Liberal MP and parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister Pearson, has lashed out at what he termed big government. He said in a Thursday speech to the North Vancouver combined Chambers of Commerce, that big government is growing, particularly in the provinces and is "becoming too all-embracing. "One out of seven Canadians is now employed in our civil services," he said. "One-third of our income is now taken away from us in the form of taxes." Mr. Davis said he has received a lot of letters lately about "big government" and "big bureaucracy" and added:

"I must frankly admit that I am too concerned about the extent to which government officials also make decisions which show little or no understanding of the local problems involved." He said remedies for this state of affairs include speedy implementation of the Glassco Commission recommendations to streamline government operations. This would require the co-operation of all parties in Parliament wherever new legislation is involved and the appointment of a Canadian ombudsman to see that bureaucrats are prevented from autocratic behavior and from glossing over any mistakes they may make.

George Pringle Girl Wins $1,600

LAKEVIEW HEIGHTS — Jean Iris Bartle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bartle of Lakeview Heights, has been informed she has won the 100E scholarship of $1,600. This is the fifth scholarship Jean has won, qualifying for a total of $2,400.

Jean is a 1964 graduate of George Pringle secondary school, Westbank. During her final year at George Pringle she won the Mount Boucherie Chapter 100E bursary, Reach for the Top scholarship, Kelowna Branch 26 Canadian Legion Pacific Command scholarship and now the 100E scholarship. The last two are provincial scholarships, and she also qualified for the B.C. government scholarship as a result of writing the final examinations in June.

Paul Zubick, school principal, attributes this excellent performance to the combination of native ability exploited to the fullest by hard work.

"Jean was one of our most diligent and conscientious students," said Mr. Zubick. "As well as carrying a heavy academic load last year, she was very active in various school clubs and organizations. She participated in our drama productions and was a member of the United Nations, Red Cross, Fine Arts and Future Teachers' clubs."

Jean is in her first year in the faculty of education at the University of British Columbia. She hopes to teach English and mathematics in the high school level. Her total of $2,400 brings the school total to approximately $4,000 in scholarships won by the United Nations, Red Cross and the Kelowna Club.

The boat at the time of the accident was owned by Bernard Schmidt and Rosemary Laying, the parents of Scott Laying. The boat was a 1963 15 ft. boat with a 15 hp. outboard motor.

We suggest operators of high speed motorboats be made aware of the danger of not sitting in the seat, we suggest those in speedboats be made to wear life jackets and we recommend a look not be made a part of the boat, none of the passengers steering mechanisms on all outdoor motor boats.

The jury deliberated almost an hour. During the two hours of testimony, before coroner D. M. White, evidence was given by seven witnesses.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1964 — PAGE 4

Let's Put Our Present House In Order First

In one breath Premier W. A. C. Bennett has advocated extension of the 120th parallel of longitude north to the Arctic Ocean, thus joining the Yukon and part of the Northwest Territories to this province, and amalgamation of British Columbia with the three prairie provinces.

The latter suggestion was part of a wider dream. He saw the ten Canadian provinces being reduced to three—the four Maritime provinces into one, Quebec and Ontario into one and the four western provinces into one.

While, as Premier Robichaud of New Brunswick pointed out recently, there is some reason for the amalgamation of the Maritime provinces, the other two-thirds of Mr. Bennett's suggestion is little more than a dream and, if it ever came to reality, could be a nightmare.

The B.C. premier has made the suggestion that the Yukon join his province before. At that time he was given a quick brushoff by the Yukon people themselves. He will probably have the same reaction again.

While Mr. Bennett aims his guns at the people of the Yukon and Northwest Territories, he might, perhaps, well look behind him and consult the people of British Columbia themselves. It is by no means a certainty that British Columbians would welcome the additions he seeks. Just why should they? True, they would pick up some additional natural resources, but also they would pick up quite a few additional headaches.

This province already has wide stretches of undeveloped country which might well receive attention before more are added. If the desire for absorption of these extra territories is mere bigness, well, surely we are big enough already.

Perhaps we might better just stay at home and mind our own knitting. If Victoria has $500,000,000 to spend on paving the Alaska Highway—which has been held out as bait—perhaps the money could be put to better purpose in more generous financing of, say, hospitals, in more generous assistance to municipalities, in relieving the taxpayer of a portion of the heavy burden of school taxes, or, indeed, in reducing the sales tax.

While it would be fun to boast that British Columbia extended from the 49th to the 60th parallel to the Arctic Ocean, there is much yet to be done within our present not-so-confined borders. And this the premier well knows.

We suspect he was talking "for laughs"—and headlines.

Save Driving Dollars

The motorist who improves his driving proficiency will gain in both dollars and safety, says the B.C. Automobile Association.

Skilled driving practices can save the average motorist as much as $75 a year, the BCAA estimates.

Erratic driving, excessive speed, abrupt starts and stops, and all the other factors that typify poor driving habits can increase gasoline costs alone by 50 per cent, not to mention the extra wear on brakes and tires.

The BCAA says it is easy to spot the marks of craftsmanship in driving. —Smooth starts and stops and the ability to change lanes without disrupting the normal traffic flow.

—Signalling in a manner that indicates awareness of other drivers.

—Maintaining a safe interval as dictated by driving conditions.

—Parking neatly, with minimum inconvenience for following motorists.

—Merging smoothly when entering a freeway or heavy traffic.

—Speed limit observance, both maximum and minimum.

—Car condition, good tire tread, clean glass, no obstructions to vision.

"More pride in driving skill is fundamental to reducing the high rate of traffic accidents," the BCAA says. "If people would take the same serious attitude towards driving as they do in trying to improve their golf game, for example, we'd see a big improvement in the accident rate."

Pig In a Poke

The New Democratic party leader in Ontario, Mr. Donald C. MacDonald, is very much concerned about his party's inability to gain new members in heavily industrialized Ontario. At the party's annual provincial convention in Toronto, he admitted that for some years the NDP had not increased its membership.

Mr. MacDonald ascribes the lack of popularity in Ontario to the fact that the NDP had not yet had the opportunity to sink its roots in every community. Yet, surely, the NDP's unwieldy alliance of agricultural and industrial interests is also partly to blame.

Cowless Farms

A paragraph in a farm journal is shocking to a person who hasn't lived on a farm for several decades.

The farm journal quotes O. Fred Anderson, dairyman of Ft. Lupton, Colo., as follows: "A farm milk route is my best route. These 200 farmers have quit milking, even one cow."

Mr. Anderson reports his rural customers are good ones, averaging two gallons each twice a week. He advises dairymen not to overlook this market.

The first thing a western stomp farmer did was to buy a cow. She usually could find enough to eat among the stumps until the farmer could clear a few acres for pasture and hayfield. With milk from the cow; potatoes, which also prospered among the stumps; carrots, cabbage and beans from the garden; eggs from the henhouse; a rooster on Sunday, and salt pork, which skim-milk from the cow helped produce, a family could live rather well with little cash income. It was a sort of self-sufficient circle with the cow in the middle.

What in the world do farmers do without a cow? Might as well live in town.

Bandidos Slowly Losing In Colombian Terrorism

BOGOTA (CP)—Three hand-laden and -shoe makers dotted the wall map at the Colombian Army brigade headquarters.

Until a few weeks ago, the symbols designated Communist-controlled "independent republics" in the rugged mountains of this South American country.

Now, crack troops are slowly pushing the various bandidos who ruled the regions out of their feudalistic fiefs.

With the army supporting the Conservatives, the Liberals were driven from the villages and reorganized as guerrillas in the countryside. Then the Conservatives formed guerrilla bands.

And so for five years, from 1948 until 1953, a fierce struggle similar to the Spanish Civil War raged across the Colombian countryside.

The brunt of the fight finally ended when, a decade ago, Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla directed a coup d'etat and installed himself as dictator.

But it was not until 1957, when Rojas was overthrown, that the Conservatives and Liberals resolved their political differences by agreeing to rotate control of the government between the two parties every four years.

Meanwhile, "la violencia" continued as degenerate terrorism with 10,000 brigands murdering and plundering their way up and down the mountains and across the plains.

When Astorio Lleras Camargo was elected president in 1958, he promised amnesty to any "bandidos" who handed over their weapons. Many accepted the offer.

Some stayed reformed; but others straggled back to the hills to continue a life of violence.

Huge areas of Colombia came under bandit — and, in some instances, Communist — control.

One of the most tightly-organized "republics" was the 3,500-square-mile mountain jungle area of Marquetalia.

The region's self-proclaimed ruler, a 32-year-old Communist named Pedro Antonio Marin, is today Colombia's No. 1 outlaw still at large.

Known throughout the country as "Tiro Fijo—"Sure Shot"—the bandit leader and 500 members of his gang ruled some 70,000 terrorized peasants for more than a decade.

Tiro Fijo ran Marquetalia as a private domain with its own "laws," and each peasant had to hand over 60 cents a month in "taxes." Most of the laws were enforced through threat of the death penalty should a peasant defy them.

Then the Colombian Army's 6th Brigade, combining anti-guerrilla tactics with military civil action program, liberated the republic.

"Accion civico - militar," as the community relations campaign is known, is designed to assist the peasants socially and economically and win their confidence.

The groundless reaction to the soldiers' deaths at the Brigade headquarters explained why the Colombian Army is earning a reputation, rightly or wrongly, for not taking "bandido" prisoners.

"La violencia" began as an ugly political war between the Conservative and Liberal parties, triggered by the assassination of a Liberal demagogue, Jorge Eliecer Gaitan.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Cold Sore Cure Not Always Easy

By JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Often with a bad cold, I get a herpes infection. Each sore or blister covers a quarter of my upper or lower lip. They usually occur two or more at a time, and last two weeks—as a blister or thick, unsightly scab. Medically does a tetanus infection speed up the healing process? Cosmetically, is there anything I can do to conceal them?—L.A.M.

For whatever reason, and I wish we knew why, the nerves supplying the lip area can be especially sensitive to virus infections in some people.

On the basis of experimental work, people who have trouble with cold sores (Herpes simplex infections) acquire the virus and it remains indefinitely, stirring up trouble only when some other virus infection (a cold) comes along.

We know that smallpox vaccinations will put an end to this cold sore problem for some people. At least there is no harm in trying it. (Note that this is a smallpox vaccination, not a tetanus shot.)

Dabbling the sores with rubbing alcohol may tend to make them disappear faster. Some people used spirits of camphor for the same purpose. Of course if the skin is broken, this will sting, but it often helps.

Cosmetically, I can't offer much help; creams may only accentuate the blemish, and powder doesn't offer much assistance, either. The best prospect is to try to dry the sores up with alcohol.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our six-year-old was stung around the face by hornets. Her face started to swell so we took her to a hospital emergency room and she was given a shot. The doctor said she had been sensitized and might die if stung again. Is this true?—J.W.

Some people are vastly more sensitive than others to insect bites, and react so violently that they develop shortness of breath, lung congestion and swelling. That is why so much warning is being given as to bee, wasp and hornet stings. Those are common insects, of all people who are stung, some are hypersensitive and each year some die.

For such persons, the first sting is not the perilous one. For them, the first sting does indeed "sensitize" the system, so subsequent bites are more dangerous.

To play safe, caution the child to avoid areas where she sees such insects flying about. You might consult an allergist; it is possible to desensitize against insect bites. An epinephrine preparation or possibly adrenalin for injection should be on hand for first aid if a severe reaction occurs.

One cannot be certain, off-hand, whether your little girl was indeed sensitized, so I suggest that you consult an allergist.

Dear Dr. Molner: What do you think about drinking vegetable juice? I bought a juicer and drink about three glasses a day of carrot and celery mixed. Is that enough or should I drink more? I am overweight and 74 years old.—MRS. L.H.

It can be a tasty drink if you like it. You get fluids and certain vitamins. The juice, however, has no virtue over that of the whole vegetable. I can't imagine why you would benefit from drinking more than you now do.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible for syphilis to be in a family, disappear for a few generations and then appear again?—A.B.

No. This would occur only if the disease is contracted again, from exposure to the infection.

OTTAWA REPORT

Dief Reaches Age When Many Retire

By PATRICK NICHOLOSON
Daily Courier Ottawa Bureau

John Diefenbaker enters his 70th year today.

His friends will congratulate him upon reaching yet another anniversary of his birth, and will wish him many happy years with his wife in the ease of old age retirement.

As a man attains the end of the biblical life-span of three score years and ten, his active working life draws to a close and he may contentedly relax in the winter of his life to enjoy the old age pension which a paternal government thrusts upon him. This is the age when Shakespeare's lean and supple pantaloon with stiff shank leaves and "second" childbearing and there, oblivion, sans teeth, sans eyes, sans taste, sans everything.

Private business puts its employees out to pasture generally at the young age of 65 and our civil service considers that man's usefulness in government ends at that same age. Our public life to-day certainly has little use in active roles for old men who are by nature subject to the slowing up of physical activity and mental processes.

This was aptly expressed in the House of Commons only last week by Neal Cassette, the leader of the House of Commons. "Let us choose young men people who can contribute to the building of our country in the years to come. As far as our party is concerned there is no problem; it is entirely made up of young people and that is why we can confidently think of Canada's future."

Our friends to the south cheered loudly when last year's age there was elected as president "a 60th Century Man" for the first time. John Kennedy was the first president of that country born in this fast-moving century of change and innovation.

They have not gone back—and will not go back—to a 19th Century Man to lead them.

Mr. Diefenbaker has given much time to public life. Politics occupy his mind from his accustomed early homestead rising until his correspondingly early bedtime. He has a wife, but his more demanding mistress is politics. His critics and his political enemies will not without from tearing on the wish of his friends that the last years of his life may be dedicated to his wife, so that together they may go home, and live out their days at their little house at Prince Albert, surrounded by their friends there and with that mistress to distract him so long.

Marceline King became prime minister at the age of 41 and did not leave office finally until the age of 73—unfortunately too late. His health crumbled and he was dead within a few months.

He was succeeded by 66-year-old Louis St. Laurent, whose patriotic response to the demands of high office also added too much to his aged constitution. His family urged him to retire, but he insisted on carrying on. But his friends regretted that he was never the same man again after the exhaustion of his official visits to foreign lands around the world.

Mr. Diefenbaker's health has been publicly detailed at great length. It has been said that he suffered from Parkinson's Disease, but this was denied. The medical tremor or twitch which he shows increasingly when fatigued or under stress has been described by doctors as a nervous tick, not a symptom of that dread disease. While he has long suffered physical frailty after a serious operation, the only lengthy illness he has undergone in recent years was not a sickness but an accident. He fractured a bone in his ankle, and this confined him to bed while he was prime minister and it was five weeks before he could go back to his Parliament Hill office.

On this milestone anniversary, Mr. Diefenbaker should be wished the happiness of the who crown a youth of labor with an age of ease.

Disease Target Of New "Fort"

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—Rising on a hill overlooking the Pacific is a multi-towered fortress soon to be filled with man's newest weapons against his oldest foe: Disease.

Commander of this forbidding battlement is Jonas Salk, already the conqueror of one scourge, polio, and now engaged in a three-front war against all the miseries of body and mind.

As his generals he has summoned eight of the world's outstanding research scientists and given them a free hand to map their own battle plans for a radical and revolutionary assault to break down the mysterious processes of living; for in these processes, he believes, lie hidden the keys to mental and physical health.

To gain a better understanding of these processes the National Foundation (formerly the March of Dimes) has provided $18,000,000 toward a giant laboratory—called the Salk Institute for Biological Studies—estimated to cost an eventual $30,000,000 on a 27-acre site donated by the city of San Diego.

All the equipment and human genius as well will be channelled into three basic fields of research: Immunology, virology and genetics.

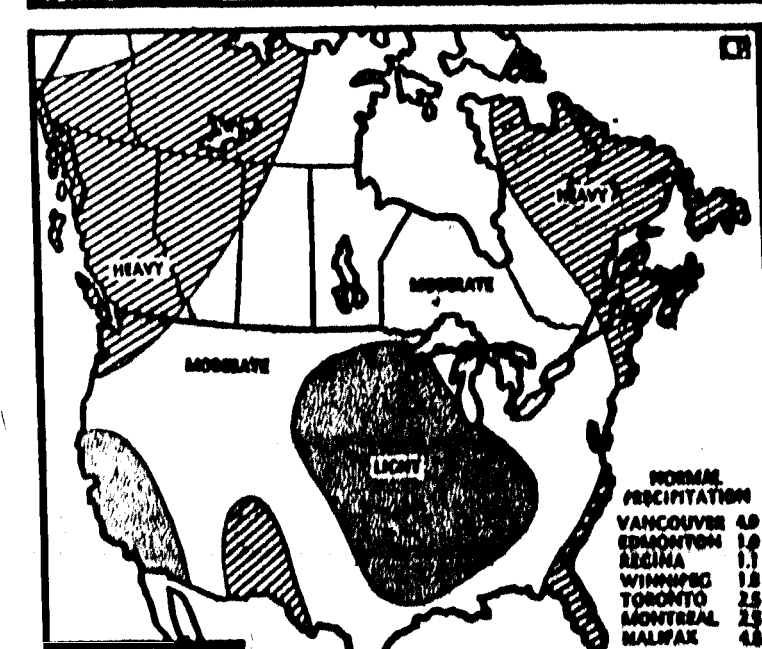

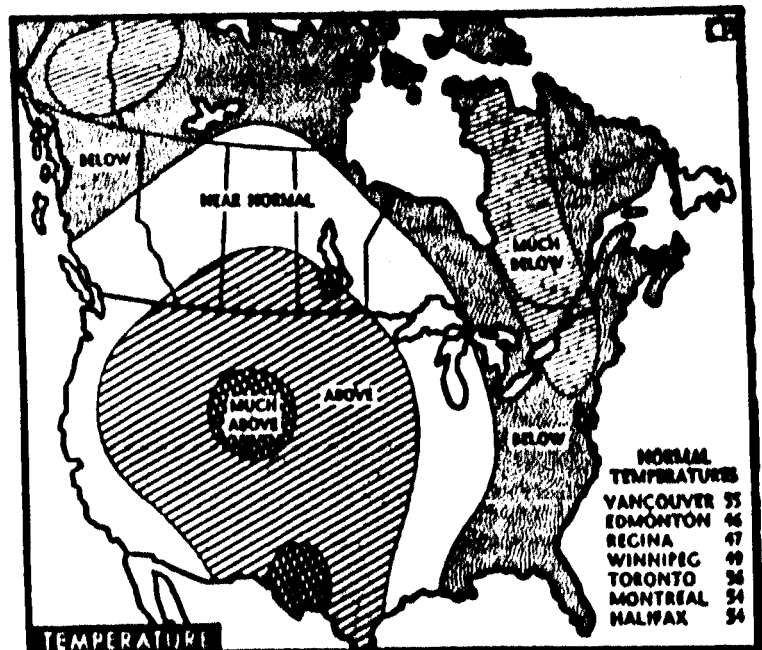

"We are not going to try any spectacular end runs, we will simply be trying to understand. If we could understand how a cell becomes cancerous under the influence of a virus—

"If we could understand why some animals are intolerant of disease, in other words, immune—

"If in time we could understand the relationship between immunology and brain mechanism, how the cell remembers what to attack—

"Then we would have some very powerful tools against disease."

ANN LANDERS

Put Burden Of Answer On Neighbour's Head

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me how to deal with a neighbor who thinks nothing of asking the most personal questions—and in such an innocent way that she disarms me completely?

Here are some samples of her wide-eyed inquiries:

- (1) Are you pregnant?
- (2) How much income tax did your husband pay this year?
- (3) How much did your car-coping cost?
- (4) Was that a wig you wore the other night?
- (5) What color is your hair really?

Sometimes I blurt out the answer because I can't think fast enough to duck the question gracefully. Later I could kick myself.

Please tell me how to handle this person. I am obviously no match for her—INADEQUATE.

Dear Ann Landers: Answer her question with a question. Sample: "Now why in the world would THAT be of any interest to you?"

This puts the burden of an answer on her head and leaves you uncommitted.

Dear Ann Landers: What has happened to good old-fashioned manners? Our 17-year-old daughter, Glenna, has been going steady with a fine young man for six months. Ron is 19. The young man is eager to introduce Glenna to his mother who lives 350 miles from here. They plan to drive up together the last weekend of next month. Ron said Glenna would be welcome to stay in the family home and share his sister's room.

The mother, however, has not written. Glenna is extending an invitation. I feel this is not socially correct. It seems to me our daughter should receive an invitation in writing.

Am I being petty? Please let me know.—CONSTANT READER.

Dear Constant: You are swallowing a camel and straining at a gnat. The REAL question here is not the absence of a formal invitation but whether a couple of teenagers should be taking a weekend trip together. I say they should not—even if the invitation from Ron's mother came engraved on the Rosetta stone.

Twelve members were present at the regular September meeting of the St. Theresa's Council of the Catholic Women's League in Rutland.

Opening prayers were led by Rev. Father Hart, and after the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, the reports of the conveners were given.

Prayers for the spiritual welfare of the parish were said in July by Mrs. Joseph Jaskolsky and Miss Katie Schneider.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Father Hart gave a very interesting talk on experiences in Hong Kong 1951 and the closing prayers were recited.

Dear Ann Landers: Your son is 17 years of age, has a marriage, a child and a divorce to his credit, and he is now begging you to let him get married again? And you're asking me whether or not to let him?

The answer is NO. Would you give him an axe and let him chop up the furniture? Why then provide him with an instrument to wreck his life?

Your son is not ready for marriage and you know it. Even Tommy Manville didn't have two marriages racked up at 17. Some parents can't get it through their heads that kids don't really want everything they ask for.

Contrary To Belief Of Some RCMP Speed Timer IS Fixed

VERNON (Staff) — Contrary to belief of some on city council, the RCMP's speed timer has been repaired, says an RCMP official in Vernon.

The repair came to the fore ground Monday at the council meeting following the monthly report from Vernon RCMP head, S. Sgt. F. J. Regan.

Mayor E. C. Rice said, "The speed timer is doing a good job. It has more than paid for itself in educating the public."

Ald. Eric Palmer asked, "Is the speed timer fixed? It was broken last I knew of it, two weeks ago."

"Arrangements were made to have it repaired by a Vernon jeweller," Mayor Rice said.

"Apparently it was only a minor flaw. It recorded the speed of one car but if another followed in quick sequence it didn't record the speed," he said.

Motor Vehicle Accidents Cost $7,900 Monthly Here

VERNON (Staff) — Figures released by Coast R. W. Rivers, head of the Vernon RCMP detachment, showed about $7,900 in property damage is done each month in the detachment area as a result of motor vehicle accidents.

The area is bounded by Swan Lake Junction, the west side of Okanagan Lake, Livingston and Wood Lake.

District accidents for the first eight months resulted in about $10,000 more damage or $68,536 as compared to $57,534 in the city.

The three holiday months, June, July and August accounted for the majority of the loss in the district. June topped the list, with $19,175, about $5,000 over the next highest month, July.

In the city, August outstripped all other months with $10,600 in property damage. In other months, it ranged from $3,200 to $6,300.

Personal injuries for the same period revealed the high speed district accidents caused over 100 per cent more injuries than in the city. District had 63 personal injuries in their mishaps while city accidents resulted in 29 injuries.

Ironically, August was the low month of the four summer months with six injuries. May and July showed 13 each and June scored 12.

In the city, the total per month ranges from one to five with both July and August recording the latter.

There was one traffic fatality in district in February and one in the city during January.

Continuing statistics with those published earlier, it appears, March and April are the safest months to travel on the open highway. May is one of the better periods for incity travel.

ARMSTRONG (Correspondent) — Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Saby at the weekend were their son, Lyle C. Saby and Al Trigwell, both of Kelowna.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Corner of Vancouver arrived Saturday to spend the weekend at the home of their mother, Mrs. F. Timbrell, who returned with them to spend a few days at the coast.

Miss Lenore Hitt of White Rock spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hitt. She was accompanied on the return trip by her brother, Brian Hitt, who is returning to UBC.

Mrs. Hilda Syme of Vancouver returned home at the weekend after spending several weeks visiting at the home of her cousin, Mrs. E. Bird, Mrs. Saby.

UBC Students On Tour Of City Packinghouse

VERNON (Staff) — For about an hour Wednesday, 57 alert UBC agriculture students toured Bulman's Ltd., viewing the processing and canning procedures.

Tour conductor Dr. Cedric Horaby called the tour of B.C. a means of giving students a broader perspective of agriculture in the province.

"This is in turn aids them in their academic work, giving them an idea of the type of problems they are dealing with when encountered in text books," he said.

"So far we have been to the Fraser Valley, Nicola Valley and Kamloops, viewing poultry, dairy and cattle farming."

"Most of the students have their line of work picked already but a tour like this helps give them an insight into the overall agriculture picture in the province."

"Many student never get a chance to see all these phases of their subject if it wasn't for these tours."

"This is the eleventh annual tour for UBC agriculture students. We don't always visit the same places but the broad principles of the tour remain the same."

"About the only complaint the group has is the 16-18 hour days they have been putting in on this tour. It will take five days, winding up Friday," said Dr. Horaby.

Robert Bely, one of the students responsible for the liaison between teachers and students offered some observations on the tour.

"One of the big problems is educating and convincing farmers on rangeland to the use of new methods and how they are used," he said.

"Farmers with large farms have been very impressed with the hospitality displayed by hosts everywhere who have been on the tour," Mr. Bely said.

PETER'S PATTERN

with PETER MUNOZ

Persistence pays off... Kelowna's Walter Hubble, secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Curling Association, first set the ball in motion some five years ago and Wednesday saw the fruits of his labor partially fulfilled when the Dominion Curling Association announced a senior curling championship for players 55 years of age and over starting in 1965. Mr. Hubble said while it doesn't match the first desire of the B.C. Senior Curling Association, nevertheless it was a step in the right direction. The "first desire" is for a final aggregate of 200 years. He stressed it was a move on behalf of the older curler and not for any personal or regional point of view.

The likelihood will be the site of the first national senior championship March 22, 1965 with the Fort Arthur Golf and Country Club as host. B.C. will compete in this event although the B.C.A. and the Pacific Coast Curling Association both agreed for 1965 only to hold a provincial senior championship with minimum age 55 and a final aggregate of 200 years.

Mr. Hubble, an avid spokesman for senior curlers' rights, said the senior will now be well on its way until the next I.C.A. meeting when the two B.C. bodies will probably push again for the aggregate age to be included nationally.

Kilmer has been named the city for the Strathcona Cup Matches on January 9. The trophies are a playdown between Canada and Scotland held every four years and alternating between the two countries. They will play at a Coast point, and after Kilmer go to Calgary and then across the nation in a series of 20 matches, each consisting of six games.

Some of the great strides curling has made in recent years are attributed to men like Mr. Hubble who persevere and work to improve the sport. To find a place for everyone in it, instead of leaving it solely for the young who have taken to it in droves.

Injured Players Back In Action In WFC Weekend Games

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The return of injured players, new wrinkles in strategy and the desire of a bruising halfback to regain his rushing crown will be featured Saturday as four teams meet in Western Football Conference action.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers, dinged 35-2 by Saskatchewan Roughriders on home ground last Saturday, move into Regina and hope to prevent the Riders from earning their fourth straight victory.

British Columbia Lions take their huge defensive line to Edmonton to see if the promise of Eskimo coach Neil Armstrong "to throw the ball" will dent their record of allowing only three touchdowns in winning four and tying two games.

The Edmonton contest, non-televized affair starting at 8:30 p.m. MST, may be the big chance for Jim Carpin, a Canadian end who missed the 1963 season due to hepatitis. Carpin may have to play tight end to replace Pat Clarke who suffered a knee injury in practice. Lions coach Dave Starnes says it could be an opportunity for Carpin to make a comeback.

The Saskatchewan offence will have a new look with the return of import flanker Billy Gray and Jim McNaughton, an import end obtained from Lions, on deck.

Roughrider Coach Bob Shaw is expected to go with two flankers—Gray and Hugh Campbell—and two tight ends to block—McNaughton and Jim Worden.

FEAR CAMPBELL Fearing Campbell, who has scored five touchdowns against the Bombers in two games, Bomber coach Bud Grant says he plans to double-team Campbell and avoid a repeat of Saturday's drubbing.

Soccer League For Juveniles

The Kelowna Parks and Recreation Commission are forming a boys' juvenile soccer league for players 13 years and under. The first practice is called for Saturday at 10 a.m. at the city park oval, Jack Brown, city recreation director said today.

"If it is possible for anyone to form a team in their district, they should do so," he said. He urged teams to come from districts served by the Bayview, Martin, Central and Glenmore schools. "Even if you're unable to form a team, come out this Saturday on your own or bring a friend or two to register and work out," he said.

Many Bruised In EFC League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Wounded pride may play a big part in deciding a couple of Eastern football conference games this weekend. With the exception of Ottawa Rough Riders, combatantly parked on a three-point cushion at the top of the standings, there are plenty of bruised feelings in the four-team heap. That could add up to an unexciting afternoon for Frank Clair's Riders when they tackle Montreal Alouettes Saturday. The Als come into the game with a three-game losing streak and offer no particular evidence of their ability to end it against the formidable Riders, who created the powerful Calgary Stampeders 53-12 last week while Montreal was bowing 19-10 to the less impressive Edmonton Eskimos. While the Riders may have to fight off complacency as well as the Alouettes in Montreal, neither Toronto Argonauts nor Hamilton Tiger-Cats will be troubled by overconfidence when they meet in Toronto Sunday. The defending Grey Cup champions dropped into a second-place tie with Montreal when Calgary downed them 30-18 last Monday on the strength of a last-minute field goal, an achievement that the usually reliable Don Sutherland failed to accomplish for the hoers in three tries.

Selecting Building Lot A Vital Consideration

Choosing a building lot, like the selection of a neighbourhood, means making a decision requiring more than just casual attention. There is more to it than simply acquiring so many square feet of land. As in choosing a neighbourhood there are certain things to look for and certain things to avoid. Your property as a whole. The land should be well drained and should have good bearing properties. Unstable soil calls for stronger footings, usually with reinforcements. Rocky terrain, but give yourself time to look around. Arrange your schedule so as to visit every project in the general area in which you have decided to reside. Get a firm quotation on the price and see how the terms fit with your means to repay. If the builder is unknown to you, or if he has not yet built up a sound reputation in the community, check his financial position as well as the house he has to offer. Enquire from previous purchasers if possible regarding the terms of the sale as well as before completing the proposed construction of a school, churches, shopping centres and access roads that you are told will be built "in the near future". If the streets are not finished, find out from the municipality what arrangements have been made for their completion. Once you have located an inviting property that seems to meet your needs and your taste, take the time to consult a lawyer before you commit yourself in writing through an offer to purchase. This is too important a decision to leave to chance.

AIDS TO HOMEOWNERS

Musty Odor In Old Chest Can Be Ousted With Work

QUESTION: We have an old chest we would like to refinish. It has been stored for 30 years and has a musty odor. What could we do to remove this odor?

ANSWER: If possible, remove the drawers and then air everything outdoors in the sun for about a week. If odor remains, replace drawers and sprinkle a generous quantity of mothballs in each one and keep tightly shut for 10 days or two weeks; mothballs and flakes are excellent deodorizers as well as moth repellents. When refinishing chest, be sure to coat all inner surfaces (sides, bare wood) with pure, fresh, white shellac (thinned half and half with denatured alcohol).

BLOCKS FOR DRY WELL
QUESTION: In building a dry well, could I substitute cement blocks for cinder blocks?

ANSWER: Either cement blocks or cinder blocks could be used for a dry well. The important thing to remember is not to use any mortar between them.

INSULATION FOR HOUSE
QUESTION: What is the best kind of insulation to use on a brick veneer house?

ANSWER: If the house is already finished, only the pellet type insulation can be used; either blown into the space to be insulated or poured in. For a house under construction, any kind can be used. The important consideration is its insulation value or resistance to the flow of heat. Insulating products now have

SPLIT-LEVEL
A sloping lot might be suitable for a split-level home while not as practical if planning a ranch type bungalow. Can the lot be landscaped at reasonable cost? Does the house you are planning to build fit the lot you have in mind; does the lot offer any natural advantages; a view, access from the side or the rear as well as the front; are there any trees that can be preserved; does it have valuable top soil that can be saved? These are some of the questions you will have to ask yourself when choosing a lot.

A new house should blend in with neighbouring houses while retaining its individuality. It should not be conspicuously different, but should harmonize with its surroundings. There are certain elementary principles to follow if a house is not to be a misfit among its neighbours. For example, a large two-storey house in a row of modest little bungalows would seem awkward and out of place.

A house with a high peak roof will clash with other houses down the street if these all have flat roof roofs. The size, shape, and even color of your home should be considered in relation to existing homes or proposed houses in the immediate vicinity. Too much similarity on the other hand can create a drab monotonous effect. Houses in a particular neighbourhood should range within a certain price range. Building an elaborate, expensive home in a low cost development would lower the value of the better house.

PUT ON FORMICA
QUESTION: Is it possible for the average handyman to put on formica or another similar substitute?
ANSWER: Yes. Easy, illustrated, step-by-step instructions available from Formica dealer. These should be carefully followed. Job is even easier if handyman has helper.

HELPFUL HINTS ABOUT YOUR HOME

Insulation Builds A Guard Against Cold And Expenses

Practically everyone can think of exciting ways to improve a home—but they all cost money. However, there is one feature improvement that has consistently appealed to even the most budget-minded of families: it's having their homes fully insulated to meet recommended standards. These families reason that:

1. Insulation will pay for itself in a few years in savings on fuel bills.
2. It will continue to save money for them indefinitely.
3. If the house is sold, the original cost of the installation usually will be completely recovered because insulation is a permanent improvement.
4. They would welcome the added comfort of a warmer home in winter, a cooler home in summer.

Various studies conducted through the years show that when a house is thoroughly insulated, families will realize a saving on heating of from 30 to 60 per cent compared to their inadequately insulated homes. It doesn't take long at that rate for savings on heating to equal the initial cost.

PROMOTES COMFORT
Insulation provides added comfort. Temperatures throughout the house are even and easy to maintain, chilling drafts eliminated.

Families who want to make sure they get optimum results from their insulation can follow the quality home requirements of the National Mineral Wool Insulation Association. These call for insulation to provide an installed resistance to heat flow of R19 or R24 for ceilings, R11 for walls, and R13 for floors.

The "R" number indicates its resistance to the passage of heat. The higher the number, the more effective the insulation.

MATCHING MAHOGANY

QUESTION: I have a solid mahogany chest which I would like to refinish. It is to be used with maple-finished furniture. What is the best method to follow?

ANSWER: Remove any finish now on the chest (varnish remover for varnish, denatured alcohol for shellac). Then apply a wood bleach to clean, bare wood surface, following label instructions. Sand smooth and wipe off all dust. Then apply matching maple stain and finish with a coat of shellac or varnish to match rest of furniture.

FADED DAVENPORT, CHAIR

QUESTION: We have a davenport and chair set that has faded, but the material is still like new. Can we successfully dye this ourselves? I know there are "spray-on" products, but haven't been able to find anyone that has used them.

ANSWER: My wife has successfully used a fabric spray to rejuvenate a faded upholstered chair. Be sure the spray you get is for the particular material (some aren't suitable for use on synthetic fibres) or the furniture. And follow manufacturer's directions on the container very carefully.

Early Spanish mariners called California "Land of Fire" because of the flaming beauty of poppies blanketing the hills.

proper level. Batts or blankets are used where required. Bags of blowing wool used to insulate existing houses are marked with the coverage needed to provide the resistance to heat flow specified for each of the key areas of a house.

Home owners who add a room to their house can easily install batts or blankets of mineral wool insulation themselves, as long as this is done before interior walls and ceiling are finished. The basic tools needed are a sharp knife and a heavy-duty staple gun.

Here are a few installation tips to keep in mind:

1. Always install insulation with vapor barrier toward heated-in-water side of walls, ceiling and floors.
2. Use plenty of staples, no more than six inches apart.
3. Insulation should fit snugly between studs and joists.
4. Insulation with a reflective facing should be installed to provide air space between it and the inside wall.

DEEP IN THE MUSKEG SOMETHING STIRRED

Fire Takes It Easy In Forests

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Five to six feet deep in the muskeg of northern Manitoba, a forest fire still smoulders after having consumed 120,000 acres since its outbreak in July.

In Labrador this summer, 20 forest fires merged into a sea of flame that destroyed almost 1,000 square miles of scrub and light timber.

But despite these two major outbreaks, a Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press shows 1964 has been a relatively light year for forest fire damage.

The number of fires was high in Ontario—about 1,640 in mid-September—but the area burned was only 26,000 acres, about 25 per cent of normal.

TOWN ENDANGERED

The fire situation was generally good in the Maritimes, as it was in Quebec where a relatively wet summer held the number of blazes to 845 covering 70,000 acres. Most Quebec fires were scattered through brush and made no inroads on hardwood or spruce.

Both Manitoba and Saskatchewan experienced bad forest fire seasons.

Thompson, the Manitoba nickel-mining town of 8,500, was threatened by one major fire still burning deep in the muskeg.

Officials say that without rain—which has been sparse in the area 400 miles north of Winnipeg—it would take hundreds of men to extinguish the fire.

The smouldering in the centre of the fire area is considered harmless, and lands and forests department workers are still keeping an eye on the edges of the outbreak.

The timber loss throughout the 120,000-acre fire area was not great, the officials said. But containing the fire as it neared the towns was costly.

With the season not yet over, Manitoba reported about 500 fires and about 400,000 acres burned. At one time 550 men were engaged in fire-fighting. Two C-130 water bombers and two helicopters were used.

FRANKIE DROUGHT

In Saskatchewan, the burned-over area was 342,000 acres times the forest land destroyed by fire the previous year. A prolonged drought in the northern part of the province was responsible.

"We were quite fortunate—it could have been a lot worse," said one official. Some valuable white spruce was lost but the actual timber destruction was not extensive.

Saskatchewan used a C-130 aircraft for the first time this year, dropping more than 1,000,000 gallons of chemical liquids on the forest fires. The plane more than paid for itself.

Both in Alberta and British Columbia, the number of forest fires is down in 1964 from previous years. B.C. had an exceptionally fine year because of wet summer weather, an official said, but a relatively large area was burned over in Alberta.

USE HIGHWAY SIGNS

Alberta had two fires that covered more than 1,500 acres each. In all, 330 fires burned about 17,000 acres. Lightning was said to be the cause of the worst fires, but careless campers and fishermen still were to blame for the majority of the blazes.

Alberta carries on an extensive program of forest fire prevention, maintaining liaison with libraries and schools, besides various news media. Large signs on highways rate the fire hazard in that particular area.

No major fires were reported in British Columbia for the second year in a row. An official said the woods were "very damp, and even if it was hot there would only be flash fire hazard."

The east coast was almost as fortunate as the west coast. While Nova Scotia reported 600 fires, the only large one was of 1,800 acres and the total area burned was only about 7,500 acres.

New Brunswick also had a favorable forest fire season. This year the province became the first in Canada to institute a daily forest fire danger forecast by TV and radio, giving hazard ratings for each county. Newfoundland reported fewer fires this year than in any year in recent memory. As for Prince Edward Island, forest fires were almost nil.

You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:
West North East South

What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠ A796 ♥ 85 ♦ A75 ♣ J54
2. ♠ A5 ♥ Q76 ♦ A794 ♣ K85
3. ♠ KQ7953 ♥ 85 ♦ Q83 ♣ A84
4. ♠ KQ983 ♥ 7853 ♦ J64 ♣ A
5. ♠ A8 ♥ A8 ♦ A75 ♣ K7643

1. Three clubs. An overbid in the two level generally shows a good trump suit and approximately the values for an opening bid. It has an upper limit of strength of course, since a double jump overcall, or a cuebid would show greater values than a mere overcall.

The most we can do here is raise North in clubs and force him to bid again. It would be wrong to bid two diamonds or spades, either of which would show at least a five-card suit and imply lack of club support as well.

2. Three notrump. Obviously this hand must be played at make.

3. One notrump. Obviously this hand must be played at make.

4. One notrump. Obviously this hand must be played at make.

5. One notrump. Obviously this hand must be played at make.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Some planetary restrictions to be heeded now: During the P.M., it would be wise to control emotionalism and hypersensitivity. Some person will be on the edge side, and needless quarrels could ensue if each does not do his part in maintaining harmony.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, while you can accomplish a great deal in the year ahead, where both job and monetary affairs are concerned—especially in November, between late December and late March and next May, June and September—it would be advisable to avoid extravagance and speculation during the next 12 months, particularly in mid-December and next April. During the latter two periods, it will also be important not to antagonize those in a position to aid you. During these cycles many persons born under other Signs may prove irritable and difficult to get along with. Avoid these tendencies yourself.

Personal relationships will be under generous influences throughout most of the year, promising happiness in social, domestic and sentimental affairs. Best periods for romance: late December, next April, May and August. Opportunities to travel are indicated for next January, May, July and August. Creative workers can profit through unique ideas during the balance of this month. In December, January and next June.

A child born on this day will be endowed with the qualities needed to be an excellent teacher, scientist or statistician.

International Atom Probes Not Viewed As Productive

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—Gen. Lauris Norstad said today that a system of control and inspection on both sides of the Iron Curtain could reduce tensions in Europe without any reductions of weapons or military manpower.

The former Supreme Allied Commander in Europe also advocated that the United States, Britain and France—the only powers that can supply nuclear weapons for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—be given authority to decide whether NATO should take nuclear action to resist an enemy.

Norstad's comments were prepared for the opening of an international symposium, a part of the three-day Mayo centennial celebration. The theme of the symposium is Man's Adaptation to his Expanding Environment.

SHARE NUCLEAR WEAPONS
Norstad said in his talk and in an interview that he considers reasonable and logical the request of several European nations that they receive an absolute guarantee that some minimum stock of nuclear weapons be made available in an emergency "even if the United States might be inclined to limit its own participation."

He said he takes the same position that Europeans "exercise some real measure of influence and control over weapons that are no less essential to their security than to our own."

Norstad, now president of Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corporation, said, however, that the 15 NATO countries could not act collectively with sufficient speed in time of great crisis.

He proposed the three Western nuclear powers—the U.S., Britain and France—should make on a majority basis the decision for or against nuclear action, without binding a positively dissenting nation to participate.
